Accordingly, all faculty members, research scholars, post-doctoral fellows, project/research staff, undergraduate and postgraduate students engaged in research, and other researchers associated with the University and/or its Faculties, Departments, Centres, Institutes and Colleges shall invariably mention the full name "University of Delhi" as part of their institutional affiliation in all research and scholarly publications (for example, research articles, conference proceedings, books, book chapters and other scholarly publications) arising from or undertaken during their association with the University.

The affiliation shall, as applicable, be indicated as:

or

Department, Name of College/Institute, University of Delhi, Delhi, India
